They came. They saw. They listened.

Francis P. Whitehair spoke in Pahokee last night to the largest crowd ever to hear a state candidate.

When the speech was finished the audience crowded in close to shake hands with the 39-year-old candidate who offered a clear concise and understandable platform in furthering his candidacy for governor.

Many times during his speech the DeLand man was interrupted by applause when he drove home a point that vitally concerned citizens of Florida.

Whitehair made many friends and votes last night with his plain, straightforward appeal to the voters of the Lake Okeechobee region.

John Dulany Asks Re-election Mayor

Mayor John Dulany, in making announcement for re-election, calls the attention of the voters to the municipal election to be held on April 20th, and urges a vote in favor of that office, which includes the establishment of a building code in the city, which saves thousands of dollars annually for property owners on fire insurance premiums.

He has worked for and secured the State Market for Pahokee over the strongest opposition possible, and believes that this market will be a great asset to the future of that office, which includes the establishment of a building code in the city, which saves thousands of dollars annually for property owners on fire insurance premiums.

He has worked for and secured the State Market for Pahokee over the strongest opposition possible, and believes that this market will be a great asset to the future of that office, which includes the establishment of a building code in the city, which saves thousands of dollars annually for property owners on fire insurance premiums.

Mr. Dulany thinks that the next most important project is the establishment of a harbor at Pahokee, and has been working hard in the promotion of this project, which appeared before the Board of Army Engineers, and a public hearing will be held in Pahokee at an early date for the purpose of presenting data that might show the economic justification for such a project.

He has also been very instrumental in securing assistance from the Farm Security Administration regarding the migratory labor that has settled in Pahokee, and the establishment of migratory labor camps which are to be built during the summer.

He feels that he has demonstrated to the people of Pahokee by his record of accomplishments, his ability and willingness to work for a bigger and a better city, and with the promise that he will continue to work together with friends of years of experience, as may be a definite value, is respectfully asking consideration and support, at the polls on May 7th.

Vacation School For Baptists

The Pahokee Baptist church is planning on its customary Vacation Bible school which will open its sessions on June 3rd and continue for a considerable period.

Arrangements are being made for an all day vacation school to be held on June 9th, at which time any one who has ever been a member of the church will be invited to attend.

There will be a picnic dinner and a singing church hour, and a lawn meeting in the afternoon. Pastor S. F. Beard and his board are planning on a youth conference to be held soon to be in charge of state workers from Jacksonville. The church has invited all church choir box for the church which has been organized with home and church singers.

Market Shows Gradual Decline

There has been no upswash in the crop movement during the past week, no large "hiking" or lowering of prices, but a steady flow of vegetables at prevailing prices.

Most of the packing houses have been working steady during the past week. Some good beans and peas have been harvested, and better quality is expected, in those marketed during the coming week.

Pahokee On The Air Tuesday Morning Gives City a Boost

Excellent Program Broadcast Over West Palm Beach Station

Pahokee went on the air Tuesday morning, and the listeners in on WJNO air waves, heard the excellent program of community broadcasts planned by the state.

Ben Decker was on hand to do the interrogating of the several speakers who appeared before the microphone, and found them to be ready listeners and equipped to tell their story of the largest city on the lake.

Several hundred people gathered around Mela's corner to hear the questions and answers, and from the day's talk, learned many facts and figures concerning the lake.

Mr. Decker opened the broadcast by calling on Mayor John Dulany, who was present, and extended his thanks to the speaker as follows:

"That the name of Pahokee in the Seminole language meant glassy waters.

That the city was incorporated in 1922 with a population of around 500, with under the ordinary course of events, population figures that not less than 5000 now reside here, and that the new census would likely show larger figures.

That the crop seasons are now in full swing, and there were for several months which swelled the population and increased business from many angles, so that Pahokee becomes a great trading point. That the permanent population of the city is now 10,000, and that the present growth in educational, cultural and business lines, equal to any other rural section.

That it maintains five churches, and several colored churches, had two theatres, excellent high and grade schools, a sound and thriving banking institution, was a coming city of beautiful homes, and a large number of garden clubs; several lodges and American Legion Post; had many 4-H clubs units in the near vicinity; a competent administrator, and the administration of the Florida 4-H Association.

Mr. Dulany has been in his office at Lakeland on his way to Jacksonville, where he will attend the annual meeting of the Florida Bar Association.

"That the office of Attorney General is one of the most important in the state," pointed out Mr. Bentley. "This office carries responsibilities, perhaps far greater than any other office in the state.

"That the office of Attorney General is one of the most important in the state," pointed out Mr. Bentley. "This office carries responsibilities, perhaps far greater than any other office in the state.

"That the city is surrounded by vast acreage of rich, black mud, and extensive sugar cane reservations. That Lake Okeechobee was our chief attraction, along with the Government, is now making extensive improvements costing up to the millions.

Mayor Dulany was pleased that Canal Point and Port Mayaca were well along in the modern city that it is today, a city without a bonded indebtedness, other than for the water works system, bonds for which he had hoped that such request would finally be granted the city.

P. P. deMoya, of the Florida Power and Light Company, reported that it is "concern" would be given to the construction of a dam on First street, one at the right corner and the other at the rear road, for $2,000 a year. On motion council ordered the installation.

Mr. Dulany said that the water extensions are from the water works, extensions, and appear before council and requested that some steps be taken to rectify this condition.

Council ordered the installation of a new concrete sidewalk on the rear road, with the extension of the water works, extensions, and appear before council and requested that some steps be taken to rectify this condition.
